The Legal Implications of Building Information Modeling

PEER CONFERENCE

Tuesday, January 26, 2010

8:00 am

Peckar & Abramson

One Southeast Third Avenue

Suite 3050 – Conference Center

Miami, FL 33131

On Tuesday, January 26, 2010 at 8:00 a.m., Peckar & Abramson will host an “invitation only” conference for contractors for discussion of Building Information Modeling (BIM) and its legal implications. The topics of discussion will include:

- ◇ Basics of Building Information Modeling.
- ◇ How is Building Information Modeling being employed?
- ◇ What risks does Building Information Modeling present and how should contractors address them?
- ◇ How Building Information Modeling and traditional procedures co-exist or conflict.
- ◇ Where Building Information Modeling may be heading.

By hosting this conference, we hope to promote the sharing of ideas and experiences among contractors and the Peckar & Abramson legal team on these issues of vital importance to the construction industry.

Please join us for a continental breakfast and a 3-hour peer group session to explore these important topics.

Please RSVP to Elana Provost-Heron by telephone at
