

White Collar, Regulatory Compliance & Investigations

Peckar & Abramson's White Collar, Regulatory Compliance & Investigations Practice Group knows how to defend your case aggressively, drawing on years of experience representing individuals and businesses in white collar criminal investigations and prosecutions, regulatory and administrative actions.

In addition to criminal and civil regulatory matters, this Group represents clients in complex civil/commercial litigation, up through and including appeals.

Our attorneys also possess extensive expertise in conducting internal investigations tailored to the needs of the client.

Business First

Peckar & Abramson's White Collar, Regulatory Compliance & Investigations Group is fully integrated into our firm, with full access to its considerable resources and legal expertise in a wide variety of disciplines and fields.

Our comprehensive approach to the analysis, management and resolution of criminal issues and related civil consequences is the same as our overall approach to the practice of law: we believe in efficient and cost-effective protection of the immediate needs and long-term business objectives of our clients.
