BIO

Brian Waller is Co-Chair of Peckar & Abramson's White Collar, Regulatory Compliance & Investigations practice, and Co-Chair of the firm's Crisis Management team. With over thirty years of experience, Brian is an accomplished trial and appellate attorney who adeptly navigates the complexities of both white-collar criminal investigations and construction law. He represents corporations, construction companies, financial institutions and individuals in the areas of white-collar criminal defense, regulatory enforcement and compliance, corporate internal investigations, and complex commercial litigation.

Brian has extensive experience handling high-profile criminal investigations and prosecutions and high-stakes regulatory enforcement actions. He has defended clients against a wide range of sophisticated criminal allegations including financial fraud, public corruption, securities fraud, labor law violations, Minority, Women-owned, and Disadvantaged Business Enterprises (M/W/DBE) program abuse, health care fraud, False Claims Act and Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) violations, antitrust, money laundering, bribery, insider trading, environmental crimes and tax evasion. Having served as an Assistant District Attorney in Bronx County, New York, where he investigated, prosecuted and tried a wide range of complex criminal matters, Brian possesses a unique understanding of the interplay between criminal law and regulatory compliance, allowing him to craft effective strategies for clients.

In addition, Brian is a seasoned civil litigator representing businesses in complex commercial disputes. He regularly represents construction managers and general contractors in a broad array of matters involving breach of contract, delay claims, bond and insurance issues, default and termination, and mechanic's liens.

Brian also frequently counsels his business clients in the areas of compliance matters, responding to subpoenas, contract negotiations, risk management, ethical practices, conflicts of interest and dispute resolution.
