BIO

Stephen E. Irving is a Partner in Peckar & Abramson's Houston office and co-vice chair of the Labor & Employment practice. He focuses his practice on labor and employment law, including occupational safety and health. He has been practicing since 1995 and has been board-certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization since 2007. Stephen's experience includes successfully contesting OSHA citations, defending collective action wage and hour claims, employment discrimination, sexual/racial harassment, wrongful discharge, Payday Act claims, and enforcing non-compete agreements.

Stephen regularly works with clients facing government investigations, including OSHA, MSHA, EEOC, and the Wage-Hour Division of the U.S. Department of Labor. Stephen is also experienced in employment immigration matters such as temporary/non-immigrant worker visas and visas for employment-based lawful permanent residents (LPRs).

Stephen is an experienced advisor across the spectrum of employment law, training HR and management personnel in a variety of employment law topics, including the Occupational Safety and Health Act, Americans with Disabilities Act; Family and Medical Leave Act, sex, age, national origin, and race discrimination; sexual harassment; racial and other harassment; employee discipline and performance evaluation; HIPAA/private health information; wage and hour law; and other related matters.

Stephen's experience also includes construction law and corporate/transactional law, including drafting, editing, and negotiating commercial construction contracts, commercial leases, and mergers and acquisitions.
