SENIOR COUNSEL

Daniel Budorick is senior counsel in the Construction and Infrastructure practice at Peckar & Abramson. He focuses on construction litigation, and he has significant experience defending clients against actions involving personal injuries at construction sites.

Daniel has a wide range of experience in commercial litigation including conducting trials in federal and state courts. He has litigated matters in the United States District Court and United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois, as well as the United States District Court and United States Bankruptcy Court for the Central and Southern Districts of California.

Daniel has represented clients in numerous mediations and arbitrations on civil matters, including breach of contract actions, breach of fiduciary duty actions, commercial disputes, and personal injury matters.

Prior to joining Peckar & Abramson, Daniel concentrated his practice in the area of bankruptcy litigation. Daniel has experience litigating adversary actions, experience litigating claim objections and general motion practice in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Illinois. He has been involved in bringing motions for relief from stay to protect our construction clients contractual rights after default including the right to setoff, as well as the right to retain substitute contractors to complete contract obligations.

Daniel is admitted to practice in the State of Illinois, and State of California. Daniel received his Bachelor of Science from the University of Illinois, his Juris Doctor from the University of Iowa, School of Law and his Master of Business Administration from the University of California at Los Angeles.
