BIO

Sean Costa is an Associate in Peckar & Abramson's San Diego office, where he focuses on business litigation and transactional matters for clients in the construction and infrastructure sectors.

Sean's practice includes partnership and shareholder disputes, business dissolutions, contract disputes, employment matters, and the drafting of business and employment agreements. He represents both plaintiffs and defendants, giving him a practical understanding of the commercial and operational pressures that impact construction businesses.

Before entering private practice, Sean served as Senior Editor of the San Diego International Law Journal. He earned his J.D. from the University of San Diego School of Law, where he received the Law School Honor Scholarship and held leadership roles in student organizations. He holds a B.A. in Communications from the University of California, San Diego, and is admitted to practice in California.
